Our Weekly News

Another special week at WMS.

An outing to the library.

Brookcroft pupils had a lovely walk in the sunshine last Monday to go to the local library. The children really enjoyed looking through all the books; they were very quiet and respectful.

The children borrowed 4 books after scanning our library card. With the guidance of their teachers, they chose books about Mother's Day, the Moon and one about Islamic Art (with Urdu translation, so Miss Faiza can read it to them!) The last one they chose was about different ways to read books.

Fire Drill.

Last Friday, we had a fire drill. The children heard the fire bell and were guided outside to our meeting point on the green. After some very good listening, they crossed the road beautifully and lined up with their teachers.

Parent Meetings.

A few days ago, you should have received an email from Miss Karen with a link to book your parent meeting the week commencing the 17th March.

If you have not received this email or you are having difficulties booking your appointment, please get in touch with the office ASAP.

Last week at WMS.

We learned more about Ramadan and made cards to celebrate. Miss Bella brought in a prayer mat, some prayer beads and an outfit from home. Younas wore the outfit and showed his friends how he prays at home, which was a lovely way to share his culture.

On Pancake Day, the children enjoyed squeezing lemons to make juice for their pancakes.

For World Book Day, the children dressed up, made bookmarks and some classes watched a puppet show. A huge thank you to all the parents who kindly took the time to come and read to the children and shared their favourite stories. In Acorn, the children created a special book with their own illustrations to keep in the book corner.

During their "Out and About" lesson, Seedlings experimented to see whether warm water, cold water, salt or sugar would melt ice the fastest. All the children loved being in the garden, enjoying the sunshine and even eating snacks outside. At Brookscroft, they listened to stories and painted pictures of the blossom tree.

Flower Monitor.

Eloise was Acorn's flower monitor last week. She brought some beautiful flowers to school. She then helped to arrange them in a vase and look after them throughout the week.

Book of The Week.

'How To catch a Rainbow' by Naomi Jones and Ana Gomez. A fun story about a little girl named Freya who loves rainbows so much, she decides to become a rainbow catcher!

Artist of the Term.

The children have continued to enjoy producing their own Joan Miró inspired artwork.

Miss Rebekah attended an exciting exhibition at the Shapero Modern in Bond Street. This is a selling exhibition of some of Miró's rare prints. She brought back a very special catalogue for the children to look at.

The exhibition runs until the 4th May.
